

RADIO PRESERVATION TASK FORCE

NATIONAL RECORDING PRESERVATION BOARD
OF THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

The Radio Preservation Task Force of the Library of Congress

Josh Shepperd is Assistant Professor of Media and Communication at Catholic University in Washington D.C. Josh serves as National Director of the Library of Congress's Radio Preservation Task Force, a digital humanities consortium of 200 professors and 400 archives. In 2017 Josh has assumed the role of Sound History Fellow with the Library of Congress's National Recording Preservation Board. His organizing work has been featured by NPR Marketplace, The Atlantic Monthly, Poynter, C-Span, and CBS Radio.

Josh's book looks at the institutional origins of civic media in work conducted by the media reform movement, Office of Education, FCC, and commercial broadcasters during the New Deal. His research been supported by the Mellon Foundation, Rockefeller Archive, CLIR, and the Library of Congress.

Library & Information Science Fall Colloquium

Dr. Josh Shepperd

Department of Media and Communication
Catholic University of America

Byron Auditorium, CSL 205,
CUA Law School

6:30 p.m.

| SEPT. 14, 2017